

Project: A private issue – taking care of (spare) time is a matter of space

Subject:

The project aims at settling down and experimenting a groundwork platform model, based on dialogue between public and private actors, which supports the reconciliation between work and life in Modena, Parma and Piacenza areas.

The project experiments and carries out new services and tools that reduce or break down working hours and that create more spare time (part-time, job-sharing, nurseries inside the enterprises, parental leaves). The beneficiaries are male and female workers and unemployed women.
